Carl – we will need her driver's license, entity docs, the attached calculator completed with all support docs, date business was formed and funding instructions. We generally want a bank account opened at our bank to deposit the PPP funds into, will that be an issue?

Hi Rocco,

Long time no chat; I hope you're well!

I'm writing you as Allison Bayer Entertainment is seeking a PPP loan for up to $10mm. Allison, copied on this email, is a former short track Olympian and has taken that drive, as well as acting and marketing talent, to the next stage in her career. She has a TV show (America's Angels -- like Shark Tank but with a focus on women-owned businesses) with distribution rights in place as well as two movies with distribution as well. She's been informed by the SBA that her firm qualifies which also seems to be borne out by SBA PPP web site criteria. However, she's not confident the local Utah bank(s) she's approached would approve in a timely manner and other banks are unsure of SBA guidance as related to her Covid-19 impact.

Please see Allison's email below and advise if someone within the SBA can confirm that Allison's company qualifies for a SBA loan. By the way, she was born and raised in Southeastern PA (Reading); so a great local story!

Thank you. Carl

Hello Carl,

Allison Baver Entertainment is eligible for PPP loan as a new business established in Oct. 2019 and from what folks at the SBA have told me is to work with a banks to qualify the loan using different applicable time period for the payroll, which in my case would be the months disabled due to Covid-19.

Right now most banks are only accepting existing customers and the ones I have spoken with require the past 12 months or Jan./Feb. 2020 payroll, which does not apply to my new entertainment company because of the timeline, I had only paid an attorney for the projects in operations. You see, we had a TV show and two films scheduled to start production in Spring 2020 and these projects employ 430 people with the PPP loan amount of $8.3M. One of the projects is a TV that we received a distribution offer from A + E Network to air the show Q4 this year! The show is called America's Angels and helps women driven business, employs 80 people and will have a substantial impact for women in closing the socioeconomic gap.

I did speak to one bank who said if I can have someone qualified at the SBA confirm that the bank is allowed to qualify the loan for new business based on the COVID-19 losses during the months for the projects and hires scheduled for this applicable time period, they will approve the loan immediately. Do you know anyone who can please assist and provide that confirmation?

I have included my Good Faith Statement and Table of Contents of the business and payroll documents found at below downloadable link.
